

Nis Pedersen Jørgensen

Nis Pedersen Jørgensen, Infectious Diseases specialist, Department of Orthopedic Surgery & Department of Infectious Diseases, Aarhus University Hospital.

My research focus on osteoarticular infections and implant-associated infections such as Vascular Graft or Endograft Infections and Implant-associated Osteomyelitis. My work covers both clinical research, preclinical research using advanced animal models and basic science studies to better understand how staphylococci form persistent infections.